

DESCRIPTION

The Mud Kitchen is an engaging element of the Terra collection, allowing children to play with natural materials such as water, sand, stones, and other elements from the surroundings. Equipped with a durable container mimicking a sink, a practical countertop, a shelf, and hooks for hanging tools or dishes, the mud kitchen offers endless creative play and learning possibilities. Children can mimic adults by playing cooking, which develops their imagination and social skills. The kitchen enables children to wash and mix various materials, developing their manual skills and hand-eye coordination, allowing for free experimentation and learning through play. Moreover, contact with natural materials teaches children respect for nat...
